Freed Maxick is one of the largest CPA firms in Western New York, with clients and employees throughout the country. Our team members appreciate that Freed offers the best of both worlds—the opportunities and resources of a Top 100 firm, along with a tight-knit feel and supportive culture typically associated with a smaller firm.

Choose a fulfilling direction.

At Freed, you'll have endless opportunities to shape your career by pursuing an area of interest, carving out a specialty, or building up your practice. Our firm provides high-quality, complex accounting, auditing, tax, and consulting work in various industries and for organizations of all shapes and sizes.

Teamwork starts at the top.

Our leadership team has an open-door policy and a hands-on approach. Directors serve as mentors and frequently pitch in on projects, which sets the tone for the entire firm. We take pride in working together and looking out for each other.

Flexibility that works for you.

We understand that life happens. That's why our team members can work where they feel most productive and when it best aligns with their schedules. In addition to flexible hours and work weeks, we also offer mental health days.

I know that the firm is looking out for my best interests. Even the small things they do make a huge difference.

Free to find your purpose.

When adding team members, our firm considers cultural fit as much as experience and credentials. This allows us to create a collegial atmosphere with an undeniable sense of camaraderie amongst our team, both inside and outside work.

Having control of where I'm heading in my career, including what industries and types of engagements I work on, is very important to me.
